OLD MAN FATALLY WOUNDED LITTLE DAUGHTER SHOT HERE LAST NIGHT BY MARAUDER

Hiram Honeycutt Attacked In Bed, Now Dying at Hospital—Vernon Edmonds Held in County Jail For Attack

VICTIM'S WIFE SAYS INTRUDER WAS BLACK

Honeycutt died at the Brosheer-Brummet hospital at 3:05 o'clock this afternoon.

Hiram Honeycutt was shot and probably fatally wounded and his daughter, Ada, age 4, was less seriously wounded in bed at their home in "Slagtown" about 11 o'clock last night. Vernon Edmonds is in jail charged with the crime.

Honeycutt's wife, sleeping in the same bed, attacked the intruder with an axe, but he tore it from her grasp and escaped. She described the marauder as being a negro but police give little credence to this story.

In what was taken as his dying statement, the wounded man charged Edmonds with the shooting, though he sated that he did not know the motive of the crime.

Honeycutt, in his sworn statement, taken by R. L. Maddox in the presence of officers, gave a fairly clear account of the affair.

"Edmonds had been at my home between 11 and 12 o'clock yesterday morning," he stated between gasps. "He seemed to be drinking and asked me to take a drink but I refused. He left about noon.

"I was awakened last night a little after the 10:10 train had gone by, by some one entering. I noticed that he wore a short rain coat and light cap. He put out my lamp and turned on his flashlight.

"'Lay back down,' he said when I attempted to rise from the bed, 'or I will kill you all. It is dark around here and bushes tell no tales.'

"Then he shot me through the wrist with his revolver. I raised up in bed and started to grab him and he shot me twice in the chest. He fired again and shot Ada through the leg.

"My wife sprang out of bed, got the axe and tried to hit him. He took it away from her and left the house. After it was all over, I seemed to realize it was Edmonds. I believe that he did the shooting."

The statement was made after a hospital physician told Honeycutt that he would probably die. He stated that he did not fear death and requested that a minister be brought to him.

The Honeycutt family lives in a small house near the Colson cemetery in a section known as "Slagtown."

Police officers and physicians went out there this morning to bring the wounded man to the hospital. The scene was one never to be forgotten. The wounded baby, crying in its mother's arms, the wounded man, groaning in his misery, made it a heart rending picture.

Mrs. Honeycutt gave an account of the affair substantially as follows:

"I was awakened during the night by the entrance of a man. I could not see him very plainly but I know his face was black. I did not recognize his features or his voice.

"'Lay down there,' he said with an oath, 'or I will kill you.' With that he began shooting. I don't know how many times he shot, but two bullets struck Hiram and one hit the little girl in the leg.

"I got the axe and tried to hit him with it but he took it from me and ran out of the house. He left the axe in front of the next house." She stated emphatically that she did not recognize the marauder.

Neighbors were aroused and police officers summoned. A physician was called and rendered first aid to the man and little girl.

Night patrolmen, learning that Edmonds was under suspicion, followed his trail and arrested him at Winona. He claimed that he was not connected with the shooting and began to make an alibi. He was brought to Middlesboro and incarcerated in the city jail.

Edmonds, according to officers, served a term in the state prison on conviction of housebreaking here some time ago. He has been out of the reformatory only a few months. Officers say his general reputation is bad.

Honeycutt, who is almost blind, has the reputation of being a steady worker. He is a laborer and has been employed at street work here recently. He is entirely harmless, his acquaintances say, and has never been known to have had trouble with any one. Apparently he is about 50 years old. He stated that Edmonds had been to his house only twice before the shooting since the former had been back from prison.

"I don't know why he shot me," he stated, "I had never given him any reason to dislike me."

Detailed report on the condition of the little girl has not been made, though it is understood that her injuries are much less serious than those of the father.

Wife Questioned

Under a gruelling examination by the police this afternoon, Mrs. Honeycutt admitted that the marauder wore a raincoat like that which Edmonds had on when arrested but stated she did not believe Edmonds did the shooting. She said the intruder's face was black, though his hands were white.

Asked if Edmonds had previously asked her to leave her husband and live with him she admitted that he had but that occurred before Edmonds went to the penitentiary. She stated she had not seen him since his release until the day of the shooting.

"I want the guilty man punished," she exclaimed, "I would like to put fire to him and watch him burn."

OPPOSE FORD OFFER ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Committee Report Says Any Other Proposition Received Was Better

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—McKenzie bill, authorizing acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for the Muscle Shoals project was emphatically opposed in the minority report of six republican members of the house military committee. They assert acceptance of Ford's bid would amount to "a gift of an enormous property and industrial advantage to a private citizen from resources of the United States." The report declares Ford proposes to pay five million dollars for approximately eight-three million dollars worth of property without compulsion to continue the manufactury of fertilizer if he finds it unprofitable and asserts any other proposal offered was better than Ford's offer.

HUGH ALLEN DIRECTOR OF LUMBERMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Hugh Allen of Middlesboro was elected one of the directors of the Kentucky Retail Lumber Dealers' Association at their annual convention which closed in Louisville Wednesday.

The Association elected the following officers: President, McNary Wyatt, Henderson; first vice president, E. A. Davis, Versailles; second vice president, C. Walter Koehler, Louisville. J. Crow Taylor, secretary and Emil Anderson, treasurer, both of Louisville, were re-elected. The directors are as follows: Hugh Allen, Middlesboro; A. J. Thornton, Morganfield; O. M. McCormick, Mt. Sterling; J. F. Petus, Springfield; John T. Perry, Lexington; Luke Russell, Paducah; G. Morgan Mansfield, C. W. Brickley, Louisville, and V. L. Price Lewisburg.

MIDDLESBORO MAY BE HOST TO STATE GOLF TOURNAMENT

The Middlesboro Golf club, one of the most active, enterprising and energetic golf bodies in the state, is after the Kentucky State Golf tournament for 1924. It is true that the club has but nine holes, but they consist of 3,300 yards, well laid out in the most picturesque surroundings. We are told they have spent upward of $60,000 improving the layout, and feel confident they can entertain the event most satisfactorily.

The foregoing article is taken from the Courier-Journal golf notes. Middlesboro is satisfied, too, that she can entertain the state tournament satisfactorily and all energies are being expended towards that end.

Roof Fire At Harry Hoe Home.

A roof fire at the residence of Harry Hoe on West Cumberland avenue at 9 o'clock resulted in a small damage. The fire is said to have caught from the soot in the chimney. The blaze was quickly extinguished by firemen who immediately responded to the call. They say the damage is not more than $25.

LOCAL G. O. P WANT COOLIDGE FOR PRESIDENT

Delegates From County Instructed At Mass Meeting in Pineville This Afternoon—Judge Evans Secretary

RESOLUTIONS ENDORSE BOSWORTH AND MOSS

Calvin Coolidge was endorsed for the republican mass meeting held at the courthouse in Pineville this afternoon. The meeting was called for 1 o'clock, Judge J. G. Rollins was chosen chairman and Judge J. E. Evans, secretary.

The convention also endorsed Senator Ernst for national committeeman, Mrs. A. P. Hurt for woman national committeeman, H. H. Asher for delegate to national convention, Miss Minnie Murphy of Williamsburg as woman state committeeman from the Eleventh District and H. H. Hutcheson for the presidential elector.

Thirty-three delegates to the district and 33 delegates to the state convention were elected and instructed to vote for the candidates endorsed.

In addition, the work of Senator Ernst, Congressman Robsion, Senator Moss and Representative Bosworth was commended and the following resolutions passed:

Be It Resolved by a mass meeting of the Republican party of Bell county, Kentucky, that we are well pleased with the splendid work being accomplished by our State Senator, White L. Moss and our Representative in the lower house, Hon. Joseph F. Bosworth, and it is with pride that we note their influence and power and the respect in which they are held in the eyes of the public and in both houses of the Legislature—and whereas, there are two vital questions affecting the existence of Southeastern Kentucky, namely, the Road Bond bill and the Coal Tonnage bill: it is the sense of this meeting that they act in a manner that will best protect the interests of Southeastern Kentucky in these two measures; and it is the sense of this meeting that they vote on all matters as their judgment dictates will best protect the interests of Southeastern Kentucky in these two measures.

It is further the sense of this meeting that they be unhampered and that ever action they may take on any measure will meet the approval of the republican party in Southeastern Kentucky.

DRIVER INJURED WHEN CAR CRASHES INTO LAMP POST

Lee Williams was injured at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when his car crashed into a lamp post on Cumberland avenue between Twenty-first and Twenty-second street near the Singer office.

He says the accident car ran into the sidewalk on account of a tire blow out. His head crashed through the windshield and he was cut about the face and neck. The lamp post was torn down by the impact and the front of the car was smashed.

He received the attention of a physician immediately after the accident and is reported not seriously hurt.

A woman whose name has not been learned was in the car at the time of the wreck. She was slightly cut about the face. The physician took her home and treated the wounds.

CITY ASSESSMENT BEGINS MONDAY

January Inventory to Be Used As Value—Business Houses to Be Assessed First

Active assessment of city property will begin Monday, according to William Wallbrecht, city assessor. Stores of the business district will be assessed first.

The January inventory will be considered by the assessor as the stock and the personal taxes will be assessed against it. It is customary here to assess at 60 to 70 per cent of the valuation on realty and personalty.

After the work at the business houses is finished, assessments of private properties will begin. The assessor will make big headquarters at some public place in each section and invite the property owners to come in and have their assessments made.

TO FINISH DIXIE HIGHWAY FIRST

Road Commission Meets Wednesday to Outline Work to Be Taken Up Immediately

The three lines of the Dixie Highway, the Western Dixie, the Dixie Bee Line and the Eastern Dixie will be the first matter taken up by the State Highway commission, according to Major E. S. Helburn who returned this morning from Frankfort where he had been with the members of the Commission.

A meeting of the commission has been called for Tuesday at which time a number of important matters will be taken up. Among these will be discussion of filling up the gaps between Cumberland Gap and Cincinnati.

The commission also will take up the matter of completing the road between Corbin and London. The road now goes over an old railroad bed. The proposition is to make this a one way road permanent enough to last four or five years.

DENVER MAN ASSAILS VERSION OF OIL LEASE

Says Sinclair, Doheny and Standard Oil Concerns Conspired to Assure Award of Leases to Sinclair

MID-WEST COMPANIES RECEIVED MILLION DOLLARS

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Frederick G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, before the senate oil committee today charged that Harry Sinclair, E. L. Doheny and the Standard Oil companies conspired to assure the award of the Teapot oil leases to Sinclair. Confirming the story of his connection with that group that held contesting claims in the Teapot reserve and disposed of them to Sinclair, Bonfils charges in addition to payments made to that group, Midwest Pioneer companies which also had interests in the district received a million dollars' worth of oil produced by the Sinclair company from the Teapot. "That I have confirmed," said Bonfils.

Radio Fans Last Night Hear Phone Conversation Between Havana-Hawaii

Radio fans had quite a treat last night of listening in on a telephone conversation from Havana, Cuba, to Hawaii in the middle of the Pacific ocean. The conversation traveled over 110 miles through deep sea cable from Havana to Key West, Fla., then over land wires by the way of Chicago to San Francisco then by radio to Honolulu. The broadcasting station WEAF of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. of New York city was connected to the land wires, which enabled radio fans all over the United States to listen in on the conversation. The roll call of cities between Havana and San Francisco was especially interesting, each city answered the greeting from the vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., who was seated in a hotel in Chicago.

He made a very interesting talk on the development of the telephone art, and told that the first man to ever hear a spoken word over the telephone is still living. That man is Thomas A. Watson who assisted Alexander Graham Bell with the invention of the telephone. He mentioned that to illustrate the short period of time that we have had the telephone with us and the wonderful progress that has been made in the communication field. He called to attention that his voice was speeding over hill and plain, through valleys, under rivers, then through a deep sea cable lying one mile deep in the ocean's bed.

At the same time his voice was traveling westward and passing over mountains more than a mile high, and that his voice was bridging the Atlantic to the Eifel Tower in Paris, France, while far away in Honolulu they were listening in. There was in use in this experimental circuit 5200 miles of the toll lines of the Bell system and there was held in readiness 21,000 miles of emergency circuits.

TROOPS CALLED TO HERRIN LAST NIGHT AFTER A CONSTABLE IS KILLED, DEPUTY SHERIFF SHOT

Town Dominated by Ku Klux Klan—Fight With Anti-Klansmen Classed as War of "Drys" Against "Wets"

SOLDIERS TAKE OVER TOWN, RESTORE PEACE

Associated Press

HERRIN, Feb. 9.—Herrin, the scene of the miners' riot in 1922, was taken over by state troops today as the result of a near-riot last night between the "wets" and "drys," in which a constable was killed and a deputy sheriff seriously wounded. Caesar Cable, who has been issuing warrants on which "drys" conducted raids, was shot dead.

Meanwhile the town is dominated by Ku-Klux klan members.

John Layman, deputy sheriff, fearing further trouble, went to an anti-klan meeting as the conference dispersed. In this interval he was shot and taken to a hospital by Mayor Anderson and Ora Thomas, anti-klansman. Immediately a big crowd gathered and fired into the institution. Persons inside the hospital responded and for a while a minature battle raged. A call for troops was made and at 4 o'clock the first company arrived from Carbondale. They patrolled the hospital to protect inmates.

Before they came armed raiders with revolvers and shotguns patrolled the streets. Any one unable to give the klan password was searched for weapons. Accounts indicate the town remained quite under the control of the klansmen and upon the arrival of four other companies of troops during the forenoon, policing of the place was taken over.

During teh melee the crowd's anger was directed against Sheriff Galligan, as well as Mayor Anderson, Chief of Police John Ford, and two of Ford's patrolmen. Galligan commandeered an automobile and rushed the trio to Marphysboro for safe keeping. At noon today there was no indication of renewal of the trouble.

"GRANDSTAND" ON NATIONAL BANK CORNER FOR SALE

The "grandstand" ramshackle structure on the National bank corner, is for sale. The Merchants' association sold it to the Republican party who, it seems have not paid for it. The owners tried then to sell it to the Democrats and lastly to the Ku Klux but without avail.

The crude stand was the center of attraction last summer when politics were in vogue and from it the public were made to understand the general incompetence of the particular party being roasted. The price of the stand has been continually declining and doubtless the owners will soon pay to have it hauled away.

U. OF K. HAS SUCCESSFUL BASKETBALL SEASON

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 9.—With the basketball season well into its schedule, sporting followers generally point to the University of Kentucky's quintet as an outstanding team. Georgetown, although defeated by the Wildcats by a small score, appear to rank well to the front. Followers of the floor game say the Georgetown squad is fast, used a well varied attack and has gained victory over most of the teams it has met this season.

Centre, with a veteran team, does not rank as a championship outfit, although it easily disposed of Kentucky Wesleyan early in the season. The Colonels, by virtue of this game, stands well in the favor of the followers of the game.

A THOUGHT

Better is a little with righteousness, than great revenues without right.—Prov. 16:8.

Riches without law are more dangerous than is poverty without law.—Henry Ward Beecher.

SERVICE TO THE SICK STUDENTS

The action of the Brosheer-Brummett hospital and of the doctors of Middlesboro in volunteering their services to the suffering boys and girls at Lincoln Memorial University is indeed commendable. It typifies the highest sort of professional ideals possible, the ideal of service to the needy. And it signifies a growing spirit of co-operation with our neighbors, of bearing each other's burdens, a spirit which means more than any thing else in the development of our section.

These boys and girls who lie stricken at Harrogate are from homes in the neighboring valley or in close-by towns. Most of them are working their way through the university, striving to get an education so as to better fit themselves for the matter of living. For some a college education is an easy matter, financed by the parents' pocket book. But to most of these boys and girls it is a real thing, paid for every step by their own efforts.

These are the young people who will decide the future of this section. Is it any wonder, then, that we have a wholehearted interest in them? For here are the farmers, the lawyers, the merchants, the editors, the teachers, the preachers of another generation.

Middlesboro doctors and the Middlesboro Kiwanis Club offered their services spontaneously desiring only to alleviate a sounder foundation for the future and knits the many parts of this section into a closer unity.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Some years ago in a West Virginia mining village we knew a Jew who ran a saloon. At every session of the court he faced a number of indictments for selling on Sunday. The usual procedure was to try and convict him on two or three, assess a fine, nolle the remainder. He paid the fine and continued to violate the law. A new judge was elected, at his first court the unusual procedure was had, but when the man paid his fine the judge said to him, I am letting it go this way this time, but if you come before me again you will be tried on each charge and a jail sentence will be added to your fine! Next court he was back on a number of charges, his fine was large and he was sentenced to twenty-four hours in the county jail, which at that time was unspeakably filthy and vile. He wept, pleaded, promised but in vain! As he was being led away to jail he sobbed out, "So help me God, Judge, if I live to get out I will never be in your court again!" He lived, got out, and stayed out, of that court! Punishment that really punishes is the best way to instill into many a wholesome respect for the law!—Exchange.

AN INDEFENSIBLE BILL

What is the significance of the rapid progress of the Nelson Revenue Bill in a Legislature whose programme seems to be to kill time until the Rules Committee can take control?

It would be unfortunate if the desire to cure some of the faults in administering the present tax law of the State should lead to the adoption of hurtful amendments. The present tax law is the product of years of study. It was drawn by a special committee of the Legislature working for a year, and was discussed and adopted at an extraordinary session of the Legislature in 1917. It should not be made the subject of hasty and ill-considered experiments.

The Nelson Bill proposes to repeal that section of the present revenue law which exempts from taxation the shares of stock of Kentucky corporations. Nothing could be more unwise.

The effect of such repeal would be to tax all the property of a corporation twice. Each shareholder would pay through the corporation a tax on his share of the corporate holdings, and would again pay in his own name a tax on the certificate of ownership which he holds, representing his share in the corporation. The case is precisely the same as if the owner of a piece of real estate, after paying a tax on the property, should be again taxed on the deed. The certificate of stock held by a stockholder in a corporation is merely an evidence of his ownership of a certain portion of the property of the corporation, just as his deed is the evidence of his ownership of a piece of real estate. Neither represents additional property.

It is easy to see what would be the result of such unfair double taxation. The corporate form of organization is absolutely essential to the conduct of modern business except where the amount of capital employed is so small as to make a partnership practicable. If a double tax is levied, as proposed by this bill, the corporate form of organization will be abandoned wherever the nature and extent of the business makes its abandonment possible, and it would be impossible to secure the necessary capital for carrying on any business of sufficient magnitude to require a large number of shareholders.

Another harmful provision in the Nelson Bill is that which proposes to require every bank and trust company in the State to file with the State Tax Commission a list of the collateral securities pledged to the bank or trust company for loans. It is not difficult to imagine what this would do to the banking business.

Careful consideration also should be given to the proposition to increase the tax rate of personal property, tangible or intangible, for 40 cents to 50 cents. The amount of intangible personalty listed for taxation has increased fivefold since the tax rate was reduced to the present figure of 40 cents. The experience of Kentucky, as well as that of numerous other States, has clearly demonstrated the fact that to increase the tax on intangible personalty beyond the point established by the practice in other States as a reasonable figure will not produce more revenue, but less. Does Kentucky want to resume the policy of driving this charter of property into hiding or out of the State?

DENY CITIZENSHIP TO AUSTRIAN COUNT

Minister of Foreign Affairs When War Broke Out Now Without Country

By Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Feb. 9.—Count Brechtold, who was minister for foreign affairs in Austro-Hungary at the outbreak of the great war, now finds himself a man without a country. His citizenship is a tangle in international law which has become so complicated that the old statesman apparently must wipe out all his claims and become naturalized in one of the countries which sprang from the old Austro-Hungarian Empire.

After the creation of Czechoslovakia Count Berchtold assumed that he was a citizen of that country. Like hundreds of thousands of other men who who had been associated with countries which had fought the entente powers, he regarded it desirable to become a Czechoslovakian. Passports from that new land were classed with the passports of the neutral powers in Europe. But Count Berchtold apparently forgot that for political reasons he had become naturalized in Hungary about 12 years ago. Consequently the Czechoslovakian government regards him as a Hungarian, and refuses to admit his citizenship in the new republic.

Hungary holds that the count has lost his Hungarian citizenship because he has not made use of it for ten years. He can make no claim to being an Austrian, and the distinction he achieved in European politics before the war does not save him from being untagged nonentity, along with hundreds of thousands of other refugees whose citizenship was swallowed up in the remaking of the map of Europe.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK FOR BOY SCOUTS

Now 3,000,000 in World—To Celebrate February 8 to February 14

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—With patriotism as the keynote, the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate Anniversary Week from February 8 to February 14 inclusive. The movement has a total membership of 592,700 which includes the scoutmasters and other officials. There are now over 3,000,000 Boy Scouts in the world.

An outstanding feature of the week will be the pilgrimage hikes to patriotic shrines, birthplaces of famous Americans and historic spots of Lincoln's birthplace. While the Scouts of Springfield, Ill., are hiking to Lincoln's tomb the Boston boys will march to Bunker Hill or the tomb of Paul Revere. Some New York City Scouts will pay their annual visit to Roosevelt's grave, while others will hike to a dozen other historic shrines. The Scouts of Marion, Ohio, will of course make a visit to the tomb of their late benefactor, Warren G. Harding.

Flannels are to be worn this spring and summer, but our fashionable women wouldn't think of wearing such a thing in zero weather.

THIS LITTLE WORLD

LONDON, Feb. 9.—I don't know whether any author has ever tried it on President Coolidge, but here is the recipe of Henri Duvernois, wellknown Parisian novelist, for getting rid of bores.

Many of them think he ought to take up various abuses and attack them in his novels. After listening to them for about two minutes, De-vernois edges them out of the room while saying impressively and courteously:

"What you say has convinced me there is a great abuse. But it calls for immediate action. Why don't you tell this to President Millerand? He will see that justice is done."

One of his friends asked Duvernois whether he didn't think he was doing wrong, "sicking" all these people on the president.

"Bless you, no. They never get near the president. The Elysee is the best policed building in all Paris."

An American recently called attention to some funny things connected with London statues. For instance, old King George IV and the Duke of Wellington are mounted astride big brisk horses. They are seated on blankets with no saddles or girths. Their feet hang down and there are no stirrups for the to put their tootsies in.

This aroused a Briton's curiosity and he found two statues in which the shins were depicted wearing eye-glasses—Sir Walter Besant, the one-time famous novelist, and Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the temperance advocate.

And perhaps the most typically British statue in all London is that of Sir Sidney Waterlow, in Highgate. He is carefully carrying an umbrella.

Mademoiselle Momfort, of the Paris Opera, recently sang in Marseilles. She took lunch in a famous restaurant and brought back this yarn:

She asked for mustard.

The waiter stifled a yawn and said there would be none until the next evening.

"Lemon then?"

"Never on Thursdays and Sundays."

"Butter?"

"Sorry. It's too strong."

"Milk?"

"A thousand pardons. It's just turned sour!"

DESIRES

(W. H. Anderson, New York prohibition leader, testified recently he got a "present" of $20,000 from a certain "John T. King.")

I'd like to meet with John T. King
To deal me out a hunch of luck—
That sure would be a pleasant thing.

I'd buy the wife a diamond ring,
I'd buy myself a benzine hack;
I'd like to meet with John T. King.

John gives his cash a careless fling,
Then goes away—and comes not back—
That sure would be a pleasant thing.

He loans his dough without a string
At twenty thousand bucks a crack,
I'd like to meet with John T. King.

My money cares would all take wing,
I'd have whatever now I lack;
That sure would be a pleasant thing.

Page Santa Claus and bid him bring
This generous person to my shack,
I'd like to meet with John T. King.

While he's at large to hope I cling
That he may slip me out a stack;
I'd like to meet with John T. King—
That sure would be a pleasant thing.

A MANY-COLORED RIDDLE

Are you a jumping rope up in the sky?

"I wonder who is going to guess my new riddle?" said the Riddle Lady.

"Nick and I will guess as hard as we can, won't we, Nicky?" answered Nancy. "We just love riddles!"

"We all love riddles!" said the Riddle Land folk and the Mother Goose people crowding closer.

"Well, this one is hard," warned the Riddle Lady, "so think hard." And seh began:

"Are you a jumping rope up in the sky,
That the giant's children use?
If that's what you are I should like to know why,
You are colored such marvelous hues.

"Or are you a bridge where the little Chinese
Come a pit-patting o'er the sea,
Because if you are, I will send for a star,
And have them bring me down for me.

"Or perhaps it may be you're the magical arch,
That divides earth from far fairy-land,
And through your wide portals the wee fairies march,
To the tune of the fairy king's hand.

"Or perhaps you're the awning the fairies spread out,
To protect fairyland from the rain,
Your stripes must be weater-proof, I have no doubt,
The way your bright colors remain.

"Or is it a fact that your colors do run,
And drops of them fall on the flowers?
For they always seem brighter when out comes the sun,
After it has been raining for hours.

"And is it quite true that a large pot of gold
Is buried where you touch the ground?
Did pirates dig there when they wandered of old,
And bury the treasure they'd found?

"What are you, oh beautiful bow in the sky,
A mushroom or great parasol?
Is dry,
Which puzzles my brain most of all!"

"Is it a mushroom?" asked Greedy Man. "I wish it was and that I could eat it with pepper and salt."

"No!" the Riddle Lady shook her head.

"Is it a Chinese bridge? asked Bobby Shortoe. "If it is I shall walk across the ocean after this because I'm tired of sailing."

"No!" the Riddle Lady shook her head again. "That's not it, either."

"It's a rainbow, isn't it?" said Nick.

"Why, of course it is," cried everybody. "It's as easy as pie when you know the answer. "It's a rainbow!"

"Yes, that's right," said the Riddle Lady. "The prize is an umbrella, Nick, and if you don't use one, give it to Nancy."

Memory

One of the greatest gifts that we possess
Is that of Memory. What we hold in mind
Is all our own—no fate, howe'er unkind,
Can take it from us. It can curse or bless,
According to our choice, for we may choose
From all the myriad happenings of life,
The joys and sorrows, restfulness and strife,
Which we shall keep and which we wish to lose,
So in the house of memory let us keep
Only those treasures that, when we are old,
Will give us happiness secure and deep,
And make life as a tale that is well told,
Throw out all anger, bitterness and pain,
And make the hours of pleasure live again.

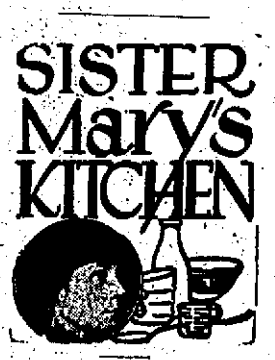
SISTER Mary's KITCHEN



Six large sweetened stewed prunes, 4 tablespoons cooked wheat cereal, plain omelet with ¼ cup cream sauce, radishes, ½ cup stewed tomatoes, cream of corn soup (1 cup), ½ cup hamburg steak, 2 medium sized baked potatoes, 1 baked onion, 4 tablespoons apple-celery-nut salad, 4 tablespoons orange juice, 2½ cubic inches cocoanut cake, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon sugar, 4 tablespoons cream, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 half-inch slices graham toast, 2 half-inch slices raisin bread, 2 cups milk.

Protein, 380 calories; fat, 1120 calories; carbohydrate, 1225 calories. Iron, .0187 gram.

A mid-morning lunch and a "night cap" in the form of a glass of milk or a cup of cocoa are beneficial in the struggle to gain weight.

Cream Sauce for Omelet

One dessertspoon butter, 1 dessertspoon flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, ½ cup top milk or thin cream.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add cream, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and cook two minutes.

Pour over omelet to serve.

Three large unsweetened stewed prunes, plain omelet, radishes (as many as wanted), 1 cup stewed tomatoes, ½ cup hamburg steak, 2 baked onions, 8 tablespoons apple-celery-hickorynut salad, orange ice (4 tablespoons), 4 small, thin slices gluten toast, 2 gluten rolls, ½ cup black coffee, 1 cup skimmed milk.

Protein, 331 calories; fat, 298 calories; carbohydrate, 411 calories. Iron, .0224 gram.

Many persons on a reducing diet find it advisable to omit breakfast and eat a hearty early luncheon. Radishes are of a very low caloric value but rich in iron, if one's digestion permits they may be freely indulged in.

Plain Omelet

Two eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 2 tablespoons hot water, 1 teaspoon butter.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Beat yolks until thick and lemon colored with water, salt and pepper. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Melt butter in frying pan and turn pan that butter may cover entire surface. When hot pour in egg mixture, smooth over top. Cook over low fire until well puffed. Finish cooking in hot oven. Fold and serve.

Protein, 68 calories; fat, 175 calories; carbohydrate, 128 calories. Iron, .002 gram.

However, comma—

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Going to theatre in New York these days isn't much pleasure.

The mad rush for tickets, the exorbitant prices charged for them, the wild scurry to get into a train or cab at theatre time, have taken most of the joy out of it.

To get desirable seats for a success one must buy his tickets at the box office eight weeks in advance. And even then he doesn't get the pick of the seats, for the agencies, somehow, get there first.

The visitor who comes to town for only a few days is, therefore, at the mercy of the spectators. And they show little mercy.

However, comma, the native Gothamite is in just as bad a fix. He doesn't live in the hotel district, and has to get to the theatre world via the subway, elevated railway, bus line or cab. And all of these are congested at show time. It is repetition of the Rush Hour, which probably has wilted him an hour or two before. And now he has to go through it all over again—this time accompanied by a wife, or sweetheart, who keeps on nagging "How awful it is!"

Conditions in the neighborhood movie houses aren't much better. They offer a complex of their own.

These theatres are usually owned by chain interests, which run the same program in several theatres usually close by.

On Broadway, between 120th street and 50th street, two miles of fine residential area, tapping the River side Drive quarter and West End avenue, there are about a dozen first-class movie theatres. Yet one can see only one of two shows in them. If he has seen them both, he is just out of luck, as far as the neighborhood show is concerned.

And the prices charged average 50 cents—for a show that used to be a nickel in the old days!

Many Prominent People at Wilson Funeral

First picture of Woodrow Wilson's funeral, taken as the procession left the Wilson mansion of S st. in Washington, D. C., on the way to Bethlehem Chapel of the National Cathedral where it will remain until the cathedral is completed. Services were conducted by Rev. James H. Taylor, of the Central Presbyterian Church at which the Ex-President worshipped, by Rev. Sylvester Beach, his spiritual adviser at Princeton, and Bishop James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington. The active pallbearers were enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marines. The honorary pallbearers, former classmates, cabinet members and associates, were, Cleveland H. Dodge, Cyrus H. McCormick, Dr. E. P. Davis, Dr. Hiram Woods, Frank L. Polk, Davis H. Houston, Newton D. Baker, Josephus Daniels, Albert S. Burleson, John Barton Payne, Wm. C. Redfield, E. T. Meredith, Thos. W. Gregory, Senators Swanson and Glass, John Sharp Williams, Congressman Garrett and Charles S. Hamlin. Other mourners at the home were President and Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. McAdoo, Joseph Wilson, a brother, and John Randolph Bolling and Wilmer Bolling, brothers of Mrs. Wilson.

NOTICE

I have been employed by Steve White to look after his business and affairs and I am informed that numerous people have been going to Mrs. Russell's home and interfering with him and this is to notify everybody that if they want to know anything about Steve White I am in a position to tell them and if they want to know anything about his estate no one can tell anything definitely about it at this time.

I trust that the respect for a widow's home and the home of her orphan girl and the fact that she is giving attention to an old, infirm and very sick man will prevent people from going to Mrs. Russell's flat and exciting Mr. White. He is in a highly nervous state and any conversation with him at all causes Mrs. Russell to have to expend an hour or two in getting him calmed down and at rest.

If the respect that is due to a private home and to a widow and her orphan girl and an aged and infirm man, who had no one else to take him in and no home in Middlesboro was open to him except Mrs. Russell's, though his friends seem to be numerous since it has been learned he is entitled to a large fortune does not deter people who have no interest in this man or did not have any before he was reported wealthy, from interferring with the conduct of this home, then they will have to answer to the Law.

This notice is to everybody to stay away from this man and let him alone. If the treatment that he has received from newspaper men and business men is continued, who would not for a minute stand day one in their home they didn't want there, then the law will take its course.

JOHN HOWARD.

NO CARS FOR 200,000 AKRON HIKES, LAUGHS

AKRON, O., Feb. 9.—Can an American city of 200,000 persons get along without street cars?

Akron is finding out.

Mayor D. C. Rybolt was elected on a promise he would retain a 5-cent fare.

The traction company announced it would have to quite operating unless granted permission to increase its fare from 5 to 7 cents.

"Then quit," said the mayor. And the company did.

So 225 automobiles, including 100 Fords sent from Detroit on the request of H. S. Firestone, Akron tire man, were drafted into service.

Healthful, Anyway

Strange looking autos came in from everywhere, responding to Rybolt's call for help.

Men were accosted on the street with the question: "Can you drive an auto?" and if they could were given a job at the wheel of a bus.

"Keep half of what you take in," they were told.

Half of the town walked.

The city health officer issued a statement assuring the citizens that "walking is a healthful habit."

Downtown stores advertise free taxi service to shoppers.

Women's clubs canceled all meetings during the "emergency, not wishing to risk themselves at night with strange drivers."

Ford Interested?

The weatherman made it warm.

Mayor Rybolt talks of tearing up the tracks.

There are rumors that Henry Ford and H. S. Firestone are interested in making the experiment a success.

But the Akronite refuses to look upon the situation as anything but a good joke.

"When it gets cold again," he says, "we'll be glad to drag out the street cars, even at 7 cents!"

Petitions are being circulated by the 800 street car employees asking the mayor to compromise. Political wiseacres say he will have to give in.

Akronites Disagree

Every citizen in Akron has his own ideas about the auto bus as a substitute for street cars.

"I'd rather walk," declares Mrs. J. W. Schade, Akron social worker, "than ride in a crowded jitney."

The sentiment of those who are satisfied with the new transportation service is perhaps expressed by H. C. Evans, a Goodrich factory office clerk.

"This bus thing is a diamond in the rough," he asserts. "It may need polishing, but you wait a couple of weeks and see it at its best. In the meantime I am willing to suffer a little inconvenience."

HEIR TO $75,000,000 KEEPS ON MAKING HIS OWN LAMB STEW IN HUMBLE HOME

COYTESVILLE, N. J., Feb. 9.—Sitting by the kitchen stove placidly stirring a pan of lamb stew, Joseph Lanoville, 51-year-old heir to a $75,000,000 legacy in France, seemed to be little concerned with his new-found fortune.

"I'll give most of it to the poor," he said, "not through recognized organizations, but to the people I find in need as I travel about."

Born in New York state, Lanoville struck the trail that led to his gold while he was in France during the war, as an officer in the United States Army.

Told of a French legend of an enormous legacy awaiting the heirs of Count Anthony Lanoville of French Revolution days, Joseph Lanoville began an investigation.

It culminated a few days ago when a French attorney appeared at Lanoville's humble but comfortable home in this village in Jersey, 36 minutes by trolley off the beaten path of the world's mad rush.

$10,000,000 Fortune Grew to Be $75,000,000

The French barrister assured Lanoville that his claim to the fortune is well founded.

For five generations—171 years—the $10,000,000 estate bequeathed by Count Lanoville to his only son has been doubling and trebling in value as the interest was compounded and the search for the heir went on.

Count Lanoville's son was kidnapped, brought to America and later married an Indian girl. Now, after five generations, Joseph Lanoville is believed to be the eldest living heir.

To him goes the fortune. He leaves for France to collect the legacy as soon as the weather breaks.

"I'm in no hurry," he said. "I got along without it before I knew about it, and I'll live in comfort if I never get it."

Lanoville has had several offers from Wall Street syndicates to buy out his birthright for immediate cash, he declared. But he was—and will—refuse all such advances.

Wife Helps Him In Business

Lanoville has been known by the Christian name of Denis, said to be the name of the sea-going man who kidnapped Count Lanoville's son, in public life—but his personal papers, bank books and the like, have always been made out in the name of Lanoville, he exhibited.

He is one of a family of 16 children and the father of 14 children, only three of which are living. He has been twice married and his present wife, whom he wed five years ago, assists him in conducting the manufacture and sale of a silver polish in New York City.

"I've been very contented," crooned Lanoville to the tune of a large spoon paddling the stew of lamb in the large pan, "and the money won't change me—but who wouldn't be glad to get it?"

NEWS FROM HARLAN AND VICINITY

DEFENDANT WINS COLLISION SUIT

Suit by Commonwealth to Gain Valuable Piece of Harlan Property

HARLAN, Feb. 9.—The first case called for trial in the Circuit Court yesterday was a damage suit by H. H. Walker against W. Baker, in which it was alleged that the defendant's machine collided with the plaintiff's machine while the defendant was under the influence of liquor. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

The case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. the Coldiron heirs, came up in the afternoon. This is a suit by the Commonwealth to forfeit a valuable piece of land valued at about $25,000, claimed to be owned by the old Middlesboro Mineral Railroad. The heirs rely upon the ground that the land was never conveyed but a right-of-way given which was to return to the owner if the railway company did not build their road within five years. The Commonwealth seeks to gain possession of the land upon the ground that the statutes of Kentucky forbid a railroad owning land for more than five years for any other purpose than to be used for a railroad.

HARLAN, Feb. 9.—Henry Walker, colored, was arrested yesterday for the alleged attempt to defraud the U. S. Coal and Coke Co. by passing false script.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The senior class gave a very interesting program in the chapel Friday morning. The program is as follows: Devotional exercises led by Jack Chesney, piano solo by Miss Beulah Lewis, song by senior girls, reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and extracts of Wilson's speeches by Charles Neighbors, reading by Miss Gertrude Willis, and several other selections given by a quartette composed of Harold Adam, Henry Billingsley, Ben Van Bebber and Charles Neighbors.

A meeting of the Junior Class was held Friday afternoon to discuss the program which they will give next week.

A shipment of equipment for the gymnasium was received this week and was assembled this morning. The equipment consists of mats, medicine balls, jumping standards, springing boards and parallel bars. This apparatus has been badly needed all year and the physical education classes will make good use of them.

The physical education department which is under the direction of Miss Rogers and Mr. Kilpatrick is doing a very important work at the high school. Under the direction of this department practically every student in school has received training in basketball. They have also received many valuable instructions about exercises, breathing and general health. Volley ball has been recently introduced and is proving to be very popular.

Prof. F. D. Callahan who has been very ill has recovered and will take charge of his classes Monday.

Russell Brown, captain of the basketball team has been absent from school all week on account of sickness.

The name of Miss Louise More was inadvertently left off the honor roll which was published last week. She was neither absent nor tardy during the first semester of school.

Determined personified is Miss Rose Chrisman, Wyoming school teacher. Hearing of platinum prospects near Middle Fork, Wyo., she made the long journey there on snowshoes, and located a claim.

SLIGHTED FRENCH BEAUTY DRIVES JUDGE TO COVER, WINS SUIT

By Associated Press.

NICE, Feb. 9.—Ten years ago Mademoiselle Callmon was the most beautiful girl in southern France. While her popularity was at its height because of her having won first prize in a beauty contest, a Nice merchant proposed marriage to her and was accepted. He was drafted into the army before their marriage and went to Morocco in military service for four years. His affection cooled at the end of his military service, and he sought to have the engagement cancelled. Mademoiselle Callmon, however, recalled his affections, and lived happily for six years in the thought that she would one day marry the merchant, but the tenth anniversary of their betrothal he declared the engagement null.

Mademoiselle Callmon then brought suit for 100,000 francs damage. In the court she displayed the pictures of the girl whose beauty had been the toast of the Riviera, and declared her unfaithful suitor had made it impossible for her to think of another man.

"But, why?" the judge asked.

"Would you take a girl who was engaged for ten years to another man, and then jilted by him?" the woman questioned.

"At once," the judge replied.

"Well, here I am, judge," she countered.

"Oh, I am married already," the embarrassed judge replied.

The court then proceeded to award Mademoiselle Callmon 8,000 francs damages, and cautioned the defendant not to prolong another engagement for ten years.

TO PREVENT CITY HALL DEFACEMENT

Careless Loungers Mar Interior; Spit on Floors—Acts Will Be Punished

City officials are threatening to take drastic steps to prevent further defacement of the city hall interior.

Careless patrons and loungers have already greatly marred the walls which were newly painted last summer. Men stand against the walls on one foot and rest the bottom of the other against the wall. All along the walls of the main corridor the muddy foot prints are not only noticeable but unsightly. Efforts to remove the marks have been in vain and now the only remedy is to repaint the walls.

At other places on the first floor, the heavy squared paper has been torn loose from the walls and is now hanging in strips.

Benches have been placed along the walls for use when court is in session but these do not seem to have remedied conditions to any great extent.

Despite the fact that an ordinance prohibiting promiscuous and public expectorations was passed last year, men continue to spit on the floors and to litter them with cigarette and cigar stubs.

The matter of protecting the property from defacements can be stopped and the guilty persons punished and this is threatened if the the practice is not discontinued.

Armour Officials Here

Big Game Hunters Bag Enormous Grizzly Bears and Lordly Moose in the Wilds of British Columbia

British Columbia, according to experienced hunters, is the most wonderful big game country in North America. Grizzlies of enormous size, black and brown bear, moose with 60 and 62 inch "spreads," mule and white-tailed deer, elk, mountain goats and sheep, caribou, timber wolves and mountain lions are numerous, and there is a wide variety of smaller fur bearing animals and geese, ducks, grouse and ptarmigan. Recently Fred Mansell, of North Vancouver, killed a big grizzly which was 11 ft. and 2 inches long from the tip of its nose to the base of the tail. A few years ago Mansell, who has been a guide since early manhood, bagged another monster silver tip grizzly 11 ft. and 6 inches long. These bears weighed about 1500 lbs. each. Mansell declares that there are more bears within 200 miles of Vancouver than in the remainder of the whole province. They are plentiful along the British Columbia coast inlets, attracted by the salmon which ascend the rivers to spawn. The grizzly is a clever fisherman and wades into the stream to catch his salmon. The coast hunting grounds are reached by launch or steamer and are about 125 miles north of Vancouver. Spring hunting is good from April 15 to June 15. Fall hunting begins about Sept. 1, and lasts until the bears retire to their dens for the winter. The Caribou and Lillooet districts attract many hunters who secure splendid trophies. The Caribou is reached via Ashcroft, B. C., headquarters of E. S. Knight who has outfitted many hunting parties and supplied expert guides who know the wilderness well. Motor cars help the sportsmen on their way after the Canadian Pacific Railway is left behind. Seven and eight pound silver and rainbow trout are common in the Caribou, and Dolly Varden, char and lake trout run as high as 30 pounds.

Mansell, a companion and the guide's dog found the huge tracks of the 11 ft. 2 inch grizzly and followed the trail. "Suddenly," says Mansell, "I sighted the big fellow digging for dead salmon in the old river bed 300 yards distant. I knew Bob couldn't hold the dog, so we tied him up for fear he would spoil my shot. Alone I crawled ahead another 100 yards. The bear was up the valley and the wind was down so that he didn't scent me. I took careful aim and pulled. Up he jumped, growling, and went down; then up again. I put two more shots in at my first chance and there was my bear, as large as any two men would wish to handle."

BETHLEHEM HAS THRIVING MOTHER-OF-PEARL INDUSTRY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Bethlehem is the centre of an industry in mother-of-pearl, which supplies beads, rosaries, inlaid work, carvings and miscellaneous ornaments or souvenirs to all parts of the world, says the Board of Trade Journal, quoting the Palestine Commercial Bulletin.

The industry employs about 500 people who do most of the work by hand. The raw material is largely waste imported from American button factories and shells from other countries.

Industrial Art Medal Goes To Silk Leader

MICHAEL FRIEDSAM Art in Industry Medal, awarded by the Architectural League of New York to Henri Creange Art Director of Cheney Brothers, as the individual who had contributed the most to the development of art in industry during 1923.

Henri Creange

The medal, which was designed by Robert Aitken, N. A., well known sculptor, is a gold medallion. The front shows Art nascent from Industry; and the back, Industry learning from Art. It was offered by Mr. Friedsam to further encourage the trend of American industry towards art and its appreciation. It will be presented each year.

Mr. Creange is an American of French origin, whose influence in the silk industry has been felt by the entire United States and whose work at the Silk Show brought him into particular prominence. He has brought appreciation to the American public of the art development in silk and has by his work brought the silk industry to the highest point of French technique particularly in tinsel brocades, in color harmonies, in group exhibitions.

The committee of award appointed by the League consisted of Michael Friedsam, Honorary Chairman, James Monroe Hewlett, Howard Greenley, and Dr. John H. Finley.

SURE IT DOES GOOD

Thedford's Black-Draught Liver Medicine (Vegetable) Praised by the Head of a Louisiana Family.

Lake Charles, La.—"I don't know what we would have done had we not had Black-Draught. It sure is one of the best medicines made, and am sure the best liver medicine," said Mr. Henry Garrett, of this city.

"My whole family uses it," continued Mr. Garrett. "My wife says she believes she kept off the 'flu' by taking doses of Black-Draught regularly.

"I, mysell, use Black-Draught for indigestion, and it is fine.

"We used pills and tablets and other laxatives, but they never seemed to do us good, but the Black-Draught sure has, and it has come to our house to stay. We give it to our daughter for headache and torpid liver.

"I am glad to recommend anything that has been the help to my family that Black-Draught has.

"My present health is good. Have two boxes of Black-Draught in the house now."

If your liver gets out of fix, take Black-Draught. It will help to drive the bile poisons and other unhealthful matters out of your system.
